Letter of Support for Karl Mecklenberg

To organizations interested in Karl's service,

If you are looking for a motivational speaker for your convention, I highly recommend Karl Mecklenberg. Karl was a big hit at our last conference. His method of using his football experience to attract the attention of the audience, then deliver a very thoughtful message was outstanding. Karl's celebrity status as an All Pro football player will draw your crowd in, but it's his message that will captivate them.

Karl's low key style is not what you might think for a rough and tough defensive lineman, but don't let that fool you, he has a very important message. Even though he is famous he doesn't use his celebrity to bring attention to himself. We all loved his humor and the humble way he used football as a metaphor for his message about leadership, teamwork, dedication, honesty and goal setting. We could have listened to him all day.

As the last speaker to closeout our conference he left us with a smile and a lot to think about. I would recommend Karl to anyone.
