Great Plains Manufacturing, a Division of Kubota, USA, is a company consisting of 1500 employees based in central Kansas. Every two years, we have a National Dealer meeting to introduce new products, and concepts in the Agriculture field to our dealer network in the continental US, and beyond. This year, we asked Karl to be our keynote speaker for the event, and we couldn't have been more pleased with our choice. Karl's 6 keys to success resonated with our guests, as well as our employees. His message applies to many aspects of business, as well as life in general. We had two sessions during the week, and everyday Karl was engaged in the meetings whether it be signing autographs, taking "selfies" with our guests, and even taking part in our field demonstration day, which on this day, was particularly hot and uncomfortable. Feedback from his presentations that week were very positive, with many guests commenting as such in our feedback questionnaire. We would highly recommend his services to any group, as he is very entertaining, and truly inspiring!
